Let's help you decide

Step by step towards circularity

Sustainability isn't just a hype word for us. It's at the core of everything we do. Apart from the fact that all our Quick-Step laminate is created, developed and made in Europe, there's a lot of other reasons our laminate floors are the most sustainable on the market.

SIG4749

✓ Floor to floor-principle

Our floors are designed to be recyclable, and through our Recover program, we're expanding our take-back systems to collect old floors and waste from installations. Using our innovative technology, we're the only ones (!) in the industry who are able to recycle the core (HDF) at the end of its life, giving it a new purpose. From your old floor to a new one, you can be confident you've made a responsible choice.

✓ Real, recovered and sustainable wood

Quick-Step laminate floors consists of 80% wood. The core of our floors (HDF) is made with 100% recovered wood, which is a byproduct from sawmills and roadside greenery maintenance. We focus on getting the most out of existing materials, rather than using up new resources. We're also PEFC-certified, which ensures you that our wood comes from sustainably managed forests.

✓ Green energy

Any wood waste that isn't suitable for reuse in laminate flooring is repurposed into green energy. For instance, the wood dust created during the sawing and sanding of our planks is too fine to recycle, but it serves as an effective heat source for our drying machines and presses. As a result, 70% of the heat needed for our laminate production is powered by green energy.

Question & answer

Discover all you need to know about Quick-Step laminate

How do I clean my Quick-Step laminate floor?

Dry and wet! Ideally, the floor should be swept or vacuumed on a weekly basis and washed monthly with water and cleaning products. We recommend using the Quick-Step Floor cleaner and Spray kit. Quick-Step Spot cleaner is perfect for stubborn stains, such as ink, paint or red wine.

Is Quick-Step laminate stainproof?

Our laminate floors are stain and scratch resistant, which keeps them looking like new. Quick-Step laminate is an investment in your dream home: you get a lifetime warranty and a timeless floor in return.

Can I easily install my Quick-Step laminate floor myself?

Thanks to our Uniclic and Unizip system, you can install your floor just like that. The advantages? No glue, no stains, no mess. With our user-friendly installation instructions, your floor can be installed in no time. Check our website for extra tips and videos.

Of course! Our laminate floors are heat-resistant, making them the perfect partner for homes with underfloor heating (or cooling). QuickHeat is our own electrical underfloor heating system, easy to install without an electrician and energy saving.

I have underfloor heating in my living room. Can I lay Quick-Step laminate there?
